

Chamber Director Resigns

Chamber's Broke, Says Rayborn

by Marileen Maher
Echo News Editor

Talmadge Rayborn, executive director of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce since August 1970, resigned Monday claiming that the chamber is broke and "I can't afford to pay my salary." In an interview Wednesday, Rayborn revealed that the chamber has only $5,000 left to operate for the rest of the year and it was a choice between his resignation or closing the chamber.

Rayborn blames the chamber's financial situation on the lack of support from local business people. "The public has not responded as it should and it may be that Hancock County is not ready for this type of chamber," Rayborn explained. He said that a recent membership drive was not as successful as he had hoped and he felt that most people in Hancock County were reluctant to get involved in chamber activities.

When asked if he was pressured to resign by the board of directors, Rayborn made it clear that this was his decision alone. "I have known since March of this year that I would probably have to resign and I have discussed this at length with Perry Gibson, chamber president. No, I was not pressured to resign, it's simply a matter of finances."

Rayborn expressed a desire to stay in Hancock County but he has no immediate plans. "I like this area and I would hope that I could work either in or near Hancock County," he remarked. A native of Sumrall, Miss., Rayborn came to Hancock County following Hurricane Camille as an educational consultant to assess damage done to the schools in this area. He was named the chamber's first executive director in August 1970. Prior to that, the work of the chamber had been handled by Mrs. Caroline Klefer.

The chamber's executive board will meet tonight to discuss the future of the chamber and work out financial problems.

Board Seeks School Renovation Funds

Although Bay St. Louis Mayor Warren Carver told city school board members at a meeting Monday night that he could not agree to the board borrowing money for Bay Junior High renovation, City Commissioner William Frisbie said that he and Commissioner Andre Arceneaux were agreeable to a short term loan of $35,000.

Frisbie said that he had conferred that day with Arceneaux, who is hospitalized, and Arceneaux had indicated that millage now levied by the city could cover payment of a short term loan for that amount without increasing taxation. Carver spoke at length of the city's shortage of money and alluded to financial obligations that the city was not going to be able to meet. He also told the board that he was reiterating a suggestion made to the board on two earlier occasions regarding a critical analysis audit of the school's budget and disbursements. "I am not casting aspersions on anyone's honesty," Carver emphasized, "but an audit by an independent professional firm could provide suggestions for disbursements, etc."

School Superintendent Joe D. McCullough told Carver that during the last state audit, an additional fee was paid by the school district for the state to make suggestions. McCullough also pointed out that the school board employs a regular auditor and if the change was to be made, the decision should be reached immediately. However, the board took no further action on the matter. When asked by school board member William Breland if the shortage of funds was due to the city's inability to collect taxes, Carver denied that and expressed the opinion that increased costs in all areas contributed to the shortage in city funds. In other school board business, William Pitcairn addressed the board with an appeal that the board set up a maintenance contract for the new Waveland School. Pitcairn, who presently maintains Bay Senior High, has recently been checking equipment at the new school and emphasized that he felt a maintenance contract was necessary. No action was taken on Pitcairn's suggestion.

The board decided to initiate an art program at Bay Senior High and agreed to hire an instructor who will set up an art program for students in the school system. Two faculty members have been added to the school system. Joseph Cacibauda has been hired as band instructor and Miss Wanda Kay King will serve as librarian at the junior high. The board passed a resolution to sell unused science equipment from Valena C. Jones to Coast Episcopal High School for $3,000.

'Stop The Bridge... I Wanna Get Off!'

We have it on the best authority....the Good Samaritan is alive and well, and he plays the Bay bridge rescuing damsels in distress. If you're not a damsel and you've never had the distressing experience of having your car stop on the Bay bridge, complete with heavy traffic, you can't possibly know how a woman feels when she finds herself in that situation. Nor can you realize the gratitude and relief when the Good Samaritan stops and pushes the car off the bridge. Besides that, he takes her to a nearby filling station for gas, pours it in the tank and waits until she is safely chugging on her way.

Waveland Moves To Annex Jackson Ridge

The creation of a state park in Hancock County moved one step closer to reality Tuesday night when Waveland aldermen agreed to annex approximately 320 acres of Jackson Ridge land. If the annexation is successful, Hancock County supervisors will then be able to lease the land to the State Park Commission for 99 years. The commission has expressed a desire to establish a state park in Hancock County but emphasized that a 99-year lease was necessary for federal funding. Under state law, supervisors are not allowed to lease 16th-section land for more than 25 years. However, a municipality is allowed to lease land for a longer period of time. The Waveland board also agreed to provide police and fire protection in the area and stipulated that the commission would be allowed to connect to the city's water and sewer lines.

Then - the good Samaritan stops and you practically faint with relief. All joking aside (we can talk about it now) this very thing happened to two Echo staffers, on two different occasions. Both Adoree Shortle and Barbara McClanahan ran out of gas on the Bay bridge, Adoree a few weeks ago in mid-afternoon, and Barbara Monday night about twilight. And each was rescued by the same Samaritan, F.E. Lassabe, former Harrison County sheriff's deputy and Pass Christian resident. Mr. Lassabe has the undying gratitude of both Echo staffers.

Burn Victim Flown To Center

A two-year old Clermont Harbor boy is reportedly in good condition at the University Medical Center in Jackson where he is being treated for severe burns sustained Sunday.

Alvin Garcia Jr. and his three-year-old sister Melissa were playing near a lawnmower when the machine exploded and covered the two with flames. The children were rushed by their father Alvin Garcia Sr. to Hancock General Hospital where doctors provided medical treatment until arrangements could be made to fly the young boy to the medical center. Egan Carroll, fixed-base operator at Stennis Field provided a plane and the boy was flown to Jackson accompanied by a nurse from Hancock General. Melissa was treated in the emergency room Sunday and released.

Supervisors Hold Recessed Meeting

Hancock County supervisors have requested the help of headquarters office, in Cong. William Colmer and Senator James Eastland in asking NASA to return Mississippi Test Facility buffer zone land to its original owners. In releasing the land, NASA would offer it for re-sale to those property owners who were relocated after the establishment of MTF near Pearlington.

In other action at Monday's recessed meeting, the supervisors granted a nine-year ad valorem tax exemption to Coastal Millworks and accepted the completion of a contract on the Caesar-Necaise road.

County Gets Share Of Petroleum Taxes

Hancock County has received $30,881 as its share of a petroleum tax surplus fund amounting to almost $9 million and distributed this week by the state motor vehicle comptroller's department. Comptroller Doxey Fisher said in announcing the surplus that it was the largest ever returned to the counties. Distribution of the $8,907,283 surplus was authorized in 1968 and is based on the amount each county received from petroleum taxes at that time. However, it was some three years later in 1969 before the fund had grown large enough to make a distribution from surplus money in the state account. "This year's surplus, in addition to being the largest ever returned to the counties, is also part of the largest year of total collections ever received by our department," said Fisher. Total state petroleum tax revenues for the fiscal year ending June 30 were in excess of $107 million, or a rise of 11 per cent over the $96.4 million collected in the previous 12-month period. Under provisions of state law, each county has already received from the motor vehicle comptroller $190,000 as its basic share of state petroleum revenues. The amount now distributed back to the county is over and above the basic amount set out in the law. "The law requires that we divide any surplus money three ways," said Fisher. "We first have to divide the total amount of money into three equal parts."

"The first third is then divided equally among all the counties. The next third is split up according to the population of the county, while the last third is divided based on the square miles in each county." Administration of the state's fuel tax laws is handled by the petroleum tax division of the motor vehicle comptroller's department. Other major sections of the department include the liquefied compressed gas division which is concerned with butane gas safety, and the privilege tax and title division which administers Mississippi's truck weight limits, operates weighing scales at entry points into the state, and enforces the state's license tag and title laws. Field employees of the motor vehicle comptroller live in most Mississippi towns and cities but work under the direction of the agency's headquarters office in Jackson.

The Living Hell Of Alcoholism

(The following article is the first in a series on Alcoholism, its causes, symptoms and finally, its cures.)

by Marileen Maher
Echo News Editor

Alcoholic. What does that word mean to you?

Do you picture a bum lying on the sidewalk? Or a woman falling off a bar stool clutching a bottle of whiskey?

Do you think alcoholics are found only in New York's Bowery or in New Orleans' French Quarter?

Do you think an alcoholic is a weak individual who can stop drinking if he just puts his mind to it?

If these are your concepts of an alcoholic, you're wrong.

The alcoholic can be your neighbor, your business associate, your child's teacher, your doctor and very possibly, yourself.

You know there are alcoholics in New Orleans and perhaps "a few" in Gulfport but do you realize that there are alcoholics in Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Clermont Harbor, Lakeshore, Pearl Harbor, Kiln—all here in Hancock County. And not just a few. There are approximately nine million alcoholics in the United States and the latest statistics show that one out of every twelve persons is an alcoholic. Some of these people live and work near you.

What is an alcoholic?

"Simply put, an alcoholic is a person who cannot control his drinking, whose drinking gets him into problems. It means anyone who has any kind of problem with drinking, anybody whose drinking interferes with his life in any way," says Dr. E. M. Jellinek, consultant to the Alcoholism Subcommittee of the World Health Organization and one of the foremost authorities on alcoholism.

According to Alton Blakeslee in his pamphlet "Alcoholism—a sickness that can be beaten," scientific evidence has proven that alcoholics may be classed in three main groups or types:

1. THE SYMPTOMATIC ALCOHOLIC.

This is the person whose chronic drinking is a sign or symptom of some underlying mental or physical illness, some defect or inadequacy. This kind of alcoholism is sometimes caused by or accompanied by real mental illness, from a severe neurosis to a psychosis or mental deficiency or psychopathic personality. The alcoholic whose trouble is due to this source needs treatment for this kind of ailment quite apart from his addiction to alcohol. Without alcohol, his sickness would undoubtedly take some other form of expression.

2. THE TRUE ADDICT.

This type of alcoholic is a deeper puzzle. Why does he turn to alcohol? Some scientists think it is due to some unusual or abnormal way in which his body reacts to alcohol. This kind of reaction may be inborn, or come during some change during important growth periods in his life. In any event, alcohol becomes a necessary and quite unmanageable poison to him or her. As with other alcoholics, he runs into the same kind of physical troubles finally.

3. THE SECONDARY ADDICT.

Outwardly, this kind of alcoholic may appear to have been a reasonably well-adjusted person for most of his adult life. He starts out as a social drinker but may wind up as an excessive drinker in reaction to some trouble or problem. This can be an accident, loss of a husband or wife or child, an unhappy marriage, a job that demands too much of him or too little. He seems to possess strong predisposing factors for excessive drinking.

Alcoholism is a sickness; not a hopeless or terminal illness but one that can be cured. The first step in this cure is to admit that possibly you could be an alcoholic.

Answer these twelve questions with a simple yes or no (no excuses, please) compiled by Alcoholics Anonymous.

1. Have you ever tried to stop drinking for a week (or longer) only to fall short of your goal?

2. Do you resent the advice of others who try to get you to stop drinking?

3. Have you ever tried to control your drinking by switching from one alcoholic beverage to another?

4. Have you taken a morning drink during the past year?

5. Do you envy people who can drink without getting into trouble?

6. Has your drinking problem become progressively more serious during the past year?

7. Had your drinking created problems at home?

8. At social affairs where drinking is limited, do you try to obtain extra drinks?

9. Despite evidence to the contrary have you continued to assert that you can stop drinking "on your own" whenever you wish?

10. During the past year have you missed time from work as a result of drinking?

11. Have you ever "blacked out" during your drinking?

12. Have you ever felt you could do more with your life if you did not drink?

If you answered yes to four or more questions, chances are that you have a serious drinking problem or may have one in the future. And you need help.

Our readers write

Dear Sir:

I wish to comment on an unforseen advantage that has accompanied my involvement in southern Hancock County. I recently acquired some land on the northside of Bayou La Croix, with an intent to build shortly. I am new in the area, and most pleased to be here. The rifle range on the road leading to Bayou La Croix from Highway 90 is the advantage I refer to. The opportunity of shooting for relaxation, in safe surroundings, is somewhat difficult to find in our present world, and it is usually necessary to "pay" for the privilege.

Both my son and I enjoy small arms practice, and it is most heartening to find its availability here free to the public. With the controversy today regarding the right to bear arms and the privilege of possessing guns, the necessity of a spot where safe and thoughtful acquaintanceship with such traditions can be achieved is most important. I believe that Mr. H. (Bully) Zengaring, in his presentation of this range for public use, has performed a most desirable service to all of us, and it is particularly to be commended for this freedom of access and use, when so many recreations are not achieved except by special privilege. I write this letter to emphasize the advantage that Hancock County possesses in this respect as compared with our more urban areas, and to express my own enjoyment of the range.

Very truly yours,
R.W. Boebel

Monday near midnight, two weeks ago, we had a fire in the laundry room of our home at 320 Ulman Ave, causing some damage mostly from smoke. I am writing this letter to congratulate our local fire department, headed by our well trained "Fire" Chief Richard Gayard, in the manner in which they so quickly responded to our call and in bringing the fire under control, which was within a matter of minutes after their arrival and before it could get any headway.

The only damage made by the fire itself was in the laundry room and this was more or less moderate. We also wish to congratulate our local Police Dept, headed by Police Chief Wm. Carbone, in so quickly appearing on the scene to keep order and to offer any assistance necessary to our safety and welfare.

Mr. and Mrs. E.C. Ross

MAKING PICKLES
Do you remember the pickles that Grandma or Mama used to make? Regardless of the kind, delicious homemade pickles leave mouthwatering memories.

Whether you make sweet or sour crisp cucumbers, tangy onions, colorful relishes, spicy peaches or watermelon rind pickles, you can make pickles every bit as delicious as Grandma's. Pickling is an art that well repays the time and care you must take for success. Care you must take for success.

For the best pickles, you should follow an up-to-date tested recipe. Follow the recipe exactly and use the best quality fruits and vegetables. Then you won't need alum or lime to get crisp pickles. Using the exact proportions of fruits or vegetables, sugar, salt, vinegar and spices given in the recipe is essential also.

Select tender vegetables and firm fruit. Peaches and peaches may be slightly underripe. Use unwaxed cucumbers if you're making whole pickles because brine cannot penetrate the wax. Sort for uniform size and choose the size that's best for that particular type.

Be sure to remove all blossoms from cucumbers. These blossoms contain enzymes that may soften cucumbers during fermentation.

Pure granulated salt, if available, is best for pickling. Uniodized table salt can be used, but materials added to keep the salt from caking may make the brine cloudy. Iodized salt may darken pickles, so don't use it.

Cider vinegar, with its mellow acid taste, gives a nice blend of flavors, but it may darken light-colored fruits and vegetables. When a light colored vinegar is important, use white distilled vinegar.

For more information on pickles come by my office on Necaise Avenue or phone 467-5456.

COMMENTS ON CHARACTER

From a ninety-year-old scrapbook, I found these words concerning character:

"Life, good influence, works, are each and all the expression of character."
"Character, or else lack of character, always tells. Character is variable."
"Character is cumulative."
"Character is not confined to education, for good or bad."
"Character soon opens a way for itself. Character tells even when money and everything else is wanting."
"Character will give you standing when family name and clothing will not."

"Character is innate principle."
"Character does, and must, show itself in face, carriage, spirit, words and business. It is a real entity, and full of life."
"Character calls to itself, like character."
"Character can only fellowship with character that is like itself."
"Christian character, in its last analysis, is Jesus Christ in the heart and life, or else the lack of Christ."
"Christ in you, the hope of glory."

STRAIGHT AHEAD.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

City-County Library Writer

There is a period in American life that recurs every four years. It might be called the Four Year Itch. At that time, oratory replaces reason; the soggiest theories are debated with solemnity; and otherwise sensible people vehemently support ideas that even their school-age children would laugh at. The old homespun humorist, "Artemus Ward" observed that "the prevailin' weakness of most public men is to slop over, and if you listen to the campaign speeches of most candidates in an election year you'll hear plenty of sloppin' over on every subject that could possibly swing a vote. The candidate's first problem is to get nominated, and to this end all the behind-the-scenes artillery is sounded off. This is the period when all the smoke-filled rooms are a-bust with deals and stratagems, when Pie in the Sky is dished out with lavish hands, and when an array of honest, hard-working, unselfish and thoroughly honorable, God-fearing men is set up on pedestals for the adoration of the public. And the odd part of it is that the public believes so much of this hogwash and never learns from past experience.

Then comes The Convention. The poor dazed delegates, overwhelmed by their brief importance, are doomed to days and nights of discomfort and cajolery. The Platform is adopted; again, any schoolchild could write it, as it consists only of grandiose promises of all things to all men who vote the Party Ticket. And the caucuses, when the delegates from each State are exhorted, promised or threatened to adopt their leaders' ideas en masse; any delegate who makes a move to kick over the traces is given the bum's rush (sometimes literally).

Walking Through Glass

Leaving her dentist's office, Martha headed for the lobby of the building. But as she reached the exit, she mistook a glass panel for the door and pushed right through it.

Cut and bruised, Martha decided to seek damages from the owner of the building.

"The door is glass and so is the panel," she complained in a court hearing. "It is all very confusing."

But the building owner saw no good reason for her confusion. He pointed out that the door had a metal frame, a hydraulic mechanism, and a handle—all plainly visible. Result: Martha's claim was turned down. As one judge put it:

"The injury was due to her own lack of care. She was the author of her own misfortune."

The growing use of glass in homes and buildings has led to numerous lawsuits in which someone inadvertently "walked through glass." In homes alone, such accidents happen about 40,000 times a year.

How alert does the law expect you to be in discerning danger? One key factor, as in the case above, is the presence of visible features that should put a reasonably careful person on guard.

Another factor is your familiarity with the premises. A woman shopper barged into the glass panel beside the door at her neighborhood supermarket. But a court rejected her damage claim largely on the ground that she had been using the same door for years without any difficulty.

However, in other circumstances, inattention may well be excused. Consider this case:

An eight-year-old child, visiting at the home of some family friends, ran into a sliding glass door. But it seems that the lighting was poor, and that the door—kept spotlessly clean at all times—had no telltale fixtures to make it noticeable.

A court accordingly found no fault with the youthful victim. Ordering the home owner to pay damages, the court said he could easily have called attention to the hazard with a strategic strip of colored tape.

Forester's Report

The Mississippi Forestry Commission will host a Southern Nurserymen's Conference at Greenville July 24-26, according to State Forester Billy Gaddis.

About sixty nurserymen from federal, state and forest industry nurseries in Alabama, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Tennessee, are expected to attend the two-day meeting.

Emphasis for the technical session will center on production of hardwood seedlings. A tour of the Southern Hardwoods Lab at Stoneville will climax the 1972 Conference.

County Agent Notes

SOIL TESTING

Take samples now from any land that you plan to plant this fall. It will take the guesswork out of your lime and fertilizer program.

Make sure that you get representative samples from each field so that the soils testing laboratory can make a sound recommendation. The recommendation cannot be good if it is based on a poor sample.

INSECT CONTROL

Keep a close check on your cotton fields. Boll weevils are expected to be out in large numbers this year and you don't want the weevils to harvest your crop for you. Plant bugs and bollworms are also active. Poison for control only as needed.

KEEP PESTICIDES OUT OF MILK

Pesticides have no place in milk. To help keep your milk free from them, here is a little advice.

Locate your pastures, hay and silage fields away from cotton fields. On cotton, use only sevin, methyl, parathion or malathion if drift is expected.

On your dairy cows and around the dairy barn, use only recommended materials.

Do not store pesticides in the feed room or any where near the place you milk.

Measure the pesticides carefully mix thoroughly and apply carefully, making sure that you read the label and follow all directions to the letter. Observe periods before grazing or harvesting treated crops.

Make sure that all of your bought feeds are from a clean source regarding pesticides.

UREA FOR NITROGEN

Research has shown that urea as a source of nitrogen is just as satisfactory as ammonium nitrate when applied to permanent pastures as a top dressing in the summer.

Ecology: The Beginning Of The End?

by Jean Edwards

Neighborhood Ecology Center. The Neighborhood Ecology Center is a flop. The last two meetings were attended by exactly three people. It is obvious, by now, that the fate of the center is in doubt.

The movement to save the earth has been dumped in the laps of a few individuals who take ecology to be more than just the latest "in" topic of cocktail party conversation.

Those few individuals cannot do it alone. Everyone must feel a responsibility for his existence here and do his part in keeping this earth the way it was created—pure and clean and natural.

In the June 22 issue of the Echo there appeared an article on the surprise visit of a few pelicans to the "petican state". It seems that the birds, which have been extinct to the state for some 23 years, perched themselves on some old pier pilings in Waveland. In the article the writer draws a picture of the coastal waters of yesteryear, when one was able to watch seagulls, pelicans, and porpoises "by the score". In last Saturday's "Mississippi Scene" of the Daily Herald, a Biloxi Shrimper was interviewed. That shrimper made this comment: "I can remember times when there were five barrels of shrimp in the first drag. I don't know why there aren't very many now. It might be the weather, or it just might be they have moved somewhere else." Mrs. Mary L. Duboussin of Biloxi wrote the following in a letter to the editor of the same paper: "This morning I was walking along the beach, enjoying the morning sun rising over the white sand, thinking what a blessing the beauty of the Coast is to us all, and then I came to the water's edge, and I was appalled at what I saw. The blue-grey, soft and gentle swells of the Sound were depositing upon the white sand a whole conglomeration of objects. Each wave brought more and I felt as if the water spoke to me, asking me to tell someone to please stop all this before it died. Water can die. What I discovered the waves bringing in was death. Dead fish, bloated and white, dead fowl, with limp wings outstretched and helpless amid bits of plastic from only God knows where, like a million sandwich bags had been shredded, green artificial grass which cannot bring life to anything...plastic brings death in many ways because it itself is indestructible. Nature cannot cope with plastic.

"Yesterday I saw a young couple happily enjoying the water down the beach with their baby paddling the water around him and with his face upturned to the sun, the water sparkled as it ran down his laughing cheeks into his open mouth.

"I have a friend living in one of the Back Bay areas in Biloxi who is rearing a family across from what, since Camille, has been turned into a city dump under the guise of a "land-fill". Once while visiting her after dark, I saw a rat the size of a small dog run from across the street into her yard.

"We continue to provide breeding places for rats but destroy the places that provide their natural enemies...

"Are we going to accept garbage as a way of life?

"The sun continues to rise every morning along the Gulf Coast. This morning two men were fishing out in the Sound. "We expect a lot out of this water's edge where we live. What are we putting into it?"

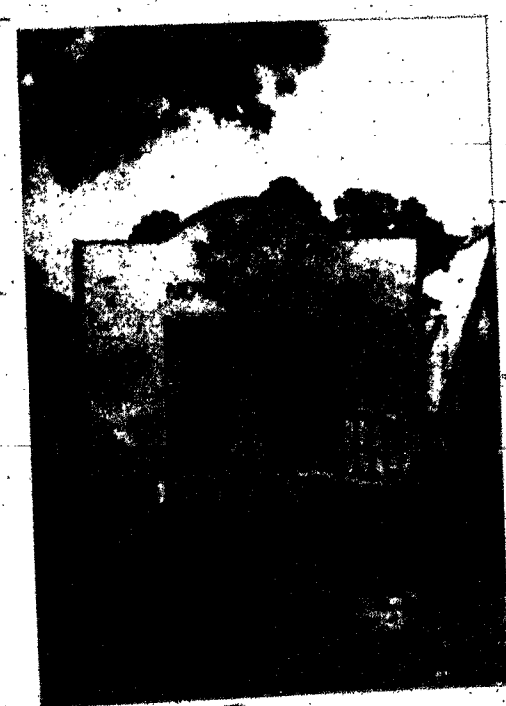

In one of those little photographic magazines put out about Hurricane Camille, I noticed a quote by Governor John Bell Williams in which he stated that the coast would come back greater and better and with more "planning" than ever before and would become one of the best recreational areas in this country.

Three years have passed since that was said. Today I can look to a certain yellow aluminum structure across from Hancock Bank, obstructing the view of our beautiful bay, or to a residential area in cedar point where sets yet another almost identical structure of a commercial nature at 122 Engman Avenue, and I wonder where all that "planning" has gone.

Our Bay is polluted. We have an over-burdened and inadequate sanitation department, sewerage system and water facility. There is a hot issue going on now over rezoning a tract of land which the owner possibly intends to use as a trailer facility. There is another issue on about porpoise catching, one about oak trees, the disappearing of Spanish moss, marshland protection, and canalization of the Wolf River.

So you see, ecological problems are not something happening out in California or down in the Everglades. Ecological problems exist here and they belong to you.

Mary Kergoslen Wins Regatta

After an exciting six-race series held July 3 and 4 at Bay-Waveland-Yacht-Club, Mary Kergoslen emerged victorious in the annual all-girl Bay Bourbon Regatta. Chris Stieffel was second and Anne Chapman third.

The series was sailed in flying Scots under varying weather conditions. The final decisive race saw the wind blow from almost every point of the compass.

The first three races which eliminated three of the nine participating skippers were won by Chris Stieffel, Ellen Eagan and Chris. The three races among the six finalists were won by Mary Kergoslen, Chris Stieffel and Kay Kergoslen.

"Any Wednesday," Muriel Resnick's Broadway hit of 1964, is being directed by Mrs. Mary Carter, who has won repeated acclaim for her excellence in directing such comedies as "Cactus Flower," "Everybody Loves Opal," "Don't Drink The Water," and "The Odd Couple." The cast is composed of Mrs. Nicholas Haas, the leading lady and a newcomer to the local stage; Floyd Wiltz, Mrs. John McKenna, and Charles Carter, Jr., all of whom have participated in award-winning plays in recent seasons. Theater-goers will especially remember the performances of Wiltz as a con man in the thriller "Wait Until Dark," Mrs. McKenna as the mother-in-law in "Barefoot in the Park," and Mr. Carter in the character role of the embassy cook in "Don't Drink the Water."

It is the intention of Mrs. Laurie Kiefer Byrd and the cast of "The Moon Is Blue" to present their play as the second or possibly the third play of this season. A new date will be announced later in the summer.

LOST & FOUND

On the morning of July 4, it was discovered that a large black iron pot, used as a planter, was missing from the front yard of Mrs. Gladys Chapman's Waveland home. The loss was reported to the police. Since then, Mrs. Chapman has considered the possibility that someone may have simply borrowed the pot while she was away, intending its return. The heavy, footed pot or cauldron has been in Mrs. Chapman's family for over one hundred years and is a reminder of her childhood, when it was used over an open fire to boil clothes and to boil water for skinning the slaughtered hogs. Memorabilia of more recent vintage are the "fish fries" enjoyed by family and friends. The value of the round iron pot is sentimental and immeasurable. If you borrowed the pot and hesitate to return it because of police involvement, or if you know of its whereabouts, please contact Mrs. Chapman. Origin of possession or information will not be questioned. Return transportation for the cauldron will be provided if needed.

PC Firemen Have A Hot Fourth

The Pass Christian Fire Department had a busy holiday Fourth of July as five calls kept firemen running in all directions throughout the day and evening.

The day began at 9:18 a.m. when the department received a call from Robert Corbin at the Penthouse Garden Apts. Firemen answering the call discovered that a fire which had started in a water heater closet in Corbin's apartment threatened to spread into other rooms, and ultimately caused an estimated $450 in smoke damage.

A plastic dust pan on the pressure relief valve in the closet had melted igniting boxes and papers stored on the water heater, as well as a paper bag full of fireworks.

At 3:10 p.m. the fire unit was dispatched to extinguish a grass fire at Woodman Ave. and Market St., and at 4:05 p.m. the emergency unit made a resuscitator run to the residence of Hodges Moran, Sr. Mr. Moran was administered first aid treatment by Capt. Norman Pavolini and fireman Leslie Ladner and Michael Smith. He was then taken by Lang's Ambulance to Gulfport Memorial Hospital.

Another grass fire, this one at the intersection of Fifth and East streets in Pass Christian Isles, brought the fire unit out again at 5:30 p.m.

The final roll for the day came at 11:30 p.m. when firemen extinguished a grass fire under the Highway 90 overpass at Henderson Point.

Fire Chief George Mixon attributes the majority of brush and grass fires during the holiday to the illegal and unsupervised use of fireworks.

MR. AND MRS. ALBERT C. MERCIER

Couple Honored On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Mercier, former long-time residents of Hattiesburg, now living in Bay St. Louis, were honored on their 50th Wedding Anniversary by their nine children with a June 28th celebration.

A mid-morning brunch, presided over by their son Pat, was served for relatives and out-of-town guests. On this occasion congratulatory messages were read and the children presented to their parents in old-fashioned fan made of money.

Father Joseph Mercier, another son, celebrated the afternoon Anniversary Mass and witnessed the renewal of their marriage vows. Reverend Abbot David Melancon, St. Joseph's Seminary, Covington, La., concelebrated and delivered the homily. Other concelebrants of the Mass included Reverends Gregory Johnson, George Kitchens and Daniel Goughier of Bay St. Louis, Reverend George Broussard, Jackson, Reverend Sam Macina, Vicksburg and Reverend Jim Parke, Baltimore, Maryland. Assisting was Reverend Mr. Elvin Sunde, Bay St. Louis. The children, grandchildren and two great-grandchildren preceded the couple down the center aisle. Adrian and Dell Mercier read the Mass readings. Mary Clare Debow and Damian Mercier carried the offerings to the altar. Family pews were marked with fresh ivy and white and gold bows. The main altar held large arrangements of white daisies. On each side of the altar stood baskets of white daisies and fresh greenery. At the reception, the serving tables were covered with white lace and cut-work cloths, ruffled with organza and decorated with white and gold grapes and miniature arrangements of yellow daisies. The center table featured a yellow four-tiered cake topped with a 50th anniversary emblem. Candelabra holding white tapers and yellow mums and daisies flanked the cake. Mrs. C. L. Debow and Mrs. Damian Mercier cut and served the cake. Mrs. Adrian Mercier poured the punch from the silver-punch service. Mrs. Pat Mercier sat at the gift table which held a decorative money-tree made of gold flowers and ribbon. A Remembrance Note encircled in a gold wedding band was given each guest.

The nine children and their families honoring their parents were: Albert L. Mercier and Mr. and Mrs. Damian Mercier of Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Mercier, St. Paul, Minn.; Reverend Joseph Mercier, Pascagoula; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Debow, Mr. and Mrs. Dell Mercier, Houston, Texas; Michael J. Mercier, Iowa City, Iowa; and Dr. and Mrs. Jerold Morgan of Hattiesburg.

Out-of-town guests included relatives and friends from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Texas, Maryland, Florida, Colorado and Mississippi. On Saturday evening, June 24, the parishioners of Sacred Heart Parish, Pascagoula, honored Mr. and Mrs. Mercier with a reception.

"The God who gave us life, gave us Liberty at the same time"

Thomas Jefferson

America is more than a "melting pot" of the world. It is the crucible from which emerged the ONLY system of government that has ever proved successful... for the people, and by the people.

Whether your family came on the Mayflower or in our 20th Century, they had one trait in common. They were young in heart — high in spirit.

The timid hugged close to Old World firesides. The strong, brave and self-reliant followed the promise of freedom to seek the better life... the AMERICAN Way of Life.

With such a heritage goes a sacred duty to perpetuate the glorious traditions that have made us great and free!

All of us should strive for a clear understanding of the forces that won for us world leadership... and share it with our children as their glorious, rightful heritage.

Isn't it time for us to bring back a much needed awareness of "THIS IS AMERICA — MY COUNTRY"?

MRS. JAMES O. CONNELLY JR.

Ceremony Unites Connelly-Thompson

Of local interest is the recent marriage of Miss Maureen Sinclair Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sinclair Thompson of Egypt, Miss. and James Orion Connelly Jr., son of Mrs. James Orion Connelly of Atlanta, Ga., and the late Mr. Connelly.

The marriage was solemnized in a garden ceremony at the home of the bride on June 17. Officiating was the Reverend Robert Poandl, pastor of St. Francis of Assisi Catholic Church in Aberdeen, Miss. Preceding the vows, scriptural readings were given by the Very Reverend Noel Roley, chancellor of the diocese of Natchez-Jackson; by Ansel Thompson, uncle of the bride; and Raylon Stokes, the bride's brother-in-law.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal wedding gown of white voile over peau-de-soie, fashioned with a lifted waistline, and long sleeves of tucks and Venice lace. The bodice was of tucks and lace with a high neckline; the A line skirt was bordered with rows of lace and tucks and a deep ruffle with Venice lace. Her short veil of illusion fell from a headpiece bow atop a band of embroidered flowers. Her bouquet was of daisies, stephanotis and baby's breath. She carried the heirloom lace handkerchief carried by her maternal great-great-grandmother on her wedding day and by brides of the family since. Her only ornament was a cameo pin, gift of the groom.

KANTCHA KETCHUM

By L.S. (Dee) Elliott

The tides for the past week have been ideal for fresh water fishing both the fly rod and casting. They fell practically all day and the fish struck mostly in the afternoons and evenings. Green trout and perch were striking popping bugs out of this world and some good catches were reported. The limit was caught by most fishermen.

As for salt water fish they were being caught almost anywhere. Speckles, rat reds and flounders topped the list. Going to Herron Bay and Three Oak Bayou paid off. Among those reporting getting them at the above spots was Kenneth McCarty a fisherman from down Waveland Way. Herron Bay, 3 Oaks, Red Fish Bayou and Campbell's Outside Bayou affords good salt water fishing most any old time this season of the year. Fishing on the bottom is best now.

Flounders are being caught by being speared at night. Soft crabs are not giving like they ought to but a few are being found here and there.

Unusual catches of flounders are being reported. Among them was a 4 1/2 pounder landed by Frank Morgan, only 10 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.J. Morgan of Hattiesburg who was visiting in Shore Line Park. He was a very happy boy and justly so.

Art Long of Stanley, Wisconsin returned home this week after a visit with Al Mercier of Waveland for a few days. Art and Al and other friends made a fishing trip to Horn Island. The party caught salt water fish, including King mackerel, speckles and flounders. Art landed a large King mackerel, one blue fish was also caught. The trip was made on a chartered boat out of Pascagoula.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK

IT'S HARD TO SELECT a sportsman each week for this column but it was easy to select Frank H. Embury. Frank is a natural born fisherman. He does fly fishing mostly but can do any kind. He has been at it a long time. Gets fish, too.

Jim Wood, Charles Burroughs, Tom Griford and Tom Howell of Gulfport and Biloxi were enjoying fresh water fishing up Pearl River. They were still fishing, catching bass and perch.

Pat Haggerty is a medical student at Denver, Colorado. Will return in August to be married. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan B. Haggerty of New Orleans.

Read where Sockeye salmon appear in unusually great numbers every four years and Pacific coast canneries make special preparations to handle and pack the anticipated "bumper" crop.

David D. Peranich, and James Wedworth with Mississippi Power Company when not working, enjoy catching shrimp. Both said they caught some this week. Beginning to give pretty good. Must be nice to know how to throw a cast net and get your own shrimp for fishing and eating? Makes it kinder cheap, too.

Floundering is a pleasure when you flounder up Jourdan River from a boat. Using a lantern. Paddle along the shore and stick them. As easy as that, if you know how. Makes walking a pleasure. You get the big black ones up that-a-way.

Stan Smith out lasted Nastase and brought the world's most coveted tennis title back to the United States after nine years. 15,000 watched the 2 hour, 45 minute finale.

The I-10 bridge crossing Pearl River at Braith Waite is becoming a popular camping and fishing spot weekly. Over the weekend there were plenty of campers, trailers and tents along the banks of the mighty Pearl. Folks were fishing, picnicking, and skiing for miles. Pearl River has been a favorite fishing spot for years with local fishermen. Fresh water fishing conditions are ideal and hunting during the different seasons is hard to beat. There were folks from Jackson, Hattiesburg, Picayune, up in Hancock County and along the whole Gulf Coast. Boats can be rented at Pearlington Marina at Pearlington, Miss. only a few miles south of this fishing location. Fishing on both banks of the river can be done with either a Mississippi or Louisiana fishing license.
